GOVERNOR WALTON GOES TO TRIAL IN OKLAHOMA SENATE

Lost Appeal for Intervention By Federal District Court.

BULLETIN. Oklahoma City, Nov. 8.—(The Associated Press.)—Gov. J. C. Walton went to trial at 12:30 p. m. today before the state senate on 22 impeachment charges alleging wilful neglect of duty, moral turpitude and incompetency.

Oklahoma City, Nov. 8.—(By The Associated Press.)—Preliminary steps in the impeachment trial of Governor J. C. Walton were practically concluded at noon today and the senate court was ready to begin taking testimony. The house board of managers had the floor during most of the morning. They denied every allegation made by the governor in his reply which coincided with the 22 charges in the impeachment bill. They declared the executive's answer was too long to be studied closely.

W. E. Disney, chairman of the board of managers, declared the board intends to introduce testimony on all the impeachment articles before asking a vote.

Denied federal intervention by which he attempted to halt impeachment proceedings against him, Governor J. C. Walton went to trial today before the senate court of impeachment on 22 charges.

The executive is determined to make another bid for government mediation on the grounds that he will not be given a fair trial because the legislature conspired with the Ku Klux Klan to remove him from office. The executive is determined to make another bid for government mediation on the grounds that he will not be given a fair trial because the legislature conspired with the Ku Klux Klan to remove him from office.

On this assumption, it was predicted that the impeachment hearing will be held in the senate chamber. The executive is determined to make another bid for government mediation on the grounds that he will not be given a fair trial because the legislature conspired with the Ku Klux Klan to remove him from office.

For the court's information testimony of H. C. Schilling, time keeper at the capitol grounds prison camp, was read, in which he admitted he had brought the package—a car pistol and a note—to the senate and handed it to a page for delivery.

Schilling said the package was received in the mail several days before and that he brought it to the senate because he "thought the governor ought to have it." He did not read the note, he said.

A motion by the Governor's counsel to strike out Schilling's testimony failed.

Should the federal court on rehearing refuse again to grant a restraining order to prevent the trial, Governor Walton will appeal to the United States Supreme Court, it was stated.

A statement issued by the executive referring to the intended appeal declared that "the case would surely find its way to the United States Supreme Court, and the imperial wizard should cause all cause of opposition to his policy to be shot for treason against the super-government of the invisible empire."

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Bastrop, La., Nov. 8.—Judge Fred M. Odum today fined Captain J. K. Skipton, Exalted Cyclops of the Morehouse Ku Klux Klan, W. G. McIntosh, Benton Pratt and Marvin Pickett, $10 and costs. They were convicted Monday of carrying firearms on the premises of another.

The fine was the limit. Judge Odum asked the defendants if they had anything to say.

"Well, Judge," replied Captain Skipton, "if I'd say anything it wouldn't do any good. You wouldn't believe me."

"That goes for me too," said McIntosh.

Judge Odum adjourned court indefinitely so far as the misdemeanor cases are concerned.

The deaths in every case were said to have been caused by eating of home canned foods put up in glass jars.

FORMER LEE CO. FARM OFFICIAL IS ON NEW JOB

D. E. Warren Praised By Polo Paper as He Starts Work.

The Tri-City Press of Polo has the following to say concerning D. E. Warren, former assistant Farm Advisor of Lee County, who became advisor for Ogle county the first of the month:

D. E. Warren of Amboy who succeeds George T. Snyder as Farm Advisor for the Ogle County Farm Bureau, has been in the county since November 1st. He will reside at the county seat.

He was in this city last Thursday getting acquainted with farm bureau members and others and paid this office a business call to talk over how the Ogle County Farm Bureau could be made a better paper, a paper of larger usefulness to the members. By virtue of his position, Mr. Warren now becomes editor of the Ogle County Farmer which is printed in this office.

Mr. Warren's experience should qualify him to do the job of farm advisor in Ogle county and enable him to give effective service.

He was born and reared near Belvidere, Boone county, where he engaged in farming for some years before entering the University of Illinois Agricultural School. Following his graduation he entered the service of the Agricultural School and served as a farm account on ten farms of which the university was making a study in an effort to learn the cost of production of farm crops in Illinois.

Five years ago he became assistant Farm Advisor of Lee County where his work seems to have given universal satisfaction. This, the University's recommendation, and Mr. Warren's home knowledge of northern Illinois soil and conditions both as a practical farmer and as a farm advisor, prompted the Ogle County Farm Bureau to engage Mr. Warren.

Mr. Snyder, who has served efficiently as Advisor since the Bureau was organized but who resigned a few months ago, will make his future home in Oregon. He has not yet decided what line of work he will engage in, having several propositions under consideration at the present time.

Summer Baseball is Bothering Dartmouth

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Hanover, N. H., Nov. 8.—The summer baseball question has become so bothersome that one of three alternatives must be adopted, says the annual report of the Dartmouth athletic council today.

The report says either the rule against summer baseball must be abolished or it must be enforced on a uniform intercollegiate basis or intercollegiate baseball should be abandoned.

The report says that the undergraduates cannot be convinced that there is anything about playing summer baseball for money which should be considered objectionable and that they object to Dartmouth's attempt to enforce the rules when many other colleges are so lenient.

PLAN EXPANSIONS TO HANDLE FREIGHT DURING NEXT YEAR

Executives of Leading Railroads Endorse Big Expenditure.

New York, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Forecasting for 1924 another period of such record breaking freight traffic as the United States has experienced this year, two national organizations of executives of the foremost railroads today adopted an ambitious program of financial and physical expansion.

The program drawn by the board of directors of the American Railway Association, representing 240 roads, was approved by full membership and later by heads of the 194 class one roads of the Association of Railway Executives.

It contemplates the aggregate expenditure of $243,804,000 already authorized for new locomotives, cars and equipment. This would bring total capital expenditures of class one roads since 1922, to 1,732,516,836—a high precedent.

Complete satisfaction was expressed with results of the billion and a half dollar plan for expansion embarked upon last spring. The goals set then had been nearly attained; many traffic records had been smashed; much new equipment had been acquired and old equipment restored; car shortages had been few, traffic congestion rare and embargoes almost eliminated.

All these accomplishments, it was pointed out, were due principally to a new spirit of unity among the railroads and of cooperation between the roads and the public. The program for 1924 is a bid for further expansion toward the goal of maximum efficiency.

The roads pledged themselves to:

- 1. Continued intensive effort to reduce the percentage of locomotives and cars awaiting repair.
- 2. Increased supervision of the roads and greater cooperation with shippers.
- 3. Continued intensive effort to increase the average daily movement per freight car.
- 4. Continued complete cooperation of the roads through the car service division of the American Railway Association.
- 5. Continued support to all phases of the work of regional shippers' advisory boards, of road executives and customers organized to solve mutual traffic problems.

Pledge of Railroads. Continued intensive effort to reduce the percentage of locomotives and cars awaiting repair.

Increased supervision of the roads and greater cooperation with shippers.

Continued support to all phases of the work of regional shippers' advisory boards, of road executives and customers organized to solve mutual traffic problems.

Sale of C., P. & St. L. Railroad is Postponed

Chicago, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sale of the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis Railroad will be postponed today until Dec. 15, pending action of the supreme court on the application of Attorney General E. J. Brundage, to intervene. It was learned today.

P. B. Warren of Springfield, counsel for the receivers, today explained that the postponement would be ordered by the Master in Chancery at Springfield but that it was expected that the high court would give the matter precedence to pass quickly on the action of the attorney general.

The attorney general obtained a writ of supercedas on his application to intervene in the case in which many Illinois cities have sought to save the 250-mile road from sale and possible sinking.

The Illinois Commerce Commission also interested itself in the case and announced it would communicate with the Governor and seek to do everything with its power to save the road.

Attorney Warren said he knew of no plan or possibility of saving the road but that nothing further could be done pending supreme court action.

Capture of Youths May Clear Mystery of Highway Robbery

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Chicago, Nov. 8.—A girl and two young men companions were held today after a night of street robberies and a chase of a speeding automobile from which the girl was thrown. Four men are being sought. According to the police, the capture has disclosed the theft of an automobile in Geneva and may lead to clearing up hold-ups on the Waukegan road.

The girl, Anna Barron, had no part in the robberies, the police say. John Danaher, her cousin, who was driving, recently escaped from the St. Charles School for Boys and stole a car owned by Morton Grigley of Geneva and came to Chicago. Frank Walla, 18, was captured later and the prisoners gave the names of the four others sought.

UNRELATED GOVT. AGENCIES BURDEN TO NATION'S HEAD

F. O. Lowden Would Make Cabinet Members Executives.

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Milwaukee, Nov. 8.—Existence of too many unrelated and independent agencies of the government is the reason why the President is overburdened, F. O. Lowden said in an address before the American Country Life Association.

He declared that the President can only be saved from his exacting duties by reposing more responsibility in administrative agencies. Government administrative machinery for the sake of the President must be made more effective through reorganization of scores of burdensome boards and commissions, he said, and added:

"Cabinet members are in reality dignified presiding officers over aggregations of subordinate organizations. Our cabinet officers have been regarded too much as mere advisers to the President and not enough as responsible heads of important departments."

He suggested an assistant President. The trouble is that we have too many assistant presidents and not enough heads of departments. Still other remedies have been proposed. Some of those proposals go to the root of the matter."

Object to Members of Navy Court to Hear Lt. Commander

By Associated Press Leased Wire. San Diego, Calif., Nov. 8.—Having disposed yesterday of the case of Captain E. H. Watson, destroyer division commander, charged with culpable inefficiency in the Point Honda disaster in which seven destroyers were wrecked, the court martial proceeded today with charges against Lieutenant Commander D. T. Hunter, commander of the Destroyer Delphy, flag ship.

When Captain Watson's case was concluded yesterday, Lieut. Commander Hunter took his place of his senior. The judge advocate said he was well satisfied with all members of the court. Commander G. L. Welles, appearing as counsel for Commander Hunter, however, challenged every member of the court. He said that this challenge was on the ground that they had all heard the evidence in the case of Captain Watson and had formed an opinion concerning it.

The court will rule on the motion today.

Stresemann Plans to Trade New Currencies for Worthless Paper

Berlin, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Chancellor Stresemann's hastily prepared measures intended to bring relief in the nation's financial straits, by trading new currencies for worthless paper, are being met with varying degrees of approval among financial critics. They view the government's decrees as primarily possessing psychological importance, in that they assured the public that the paper mark is not altogether worthless and that it will be shortly traded in against the new coinage in an equitable proportion.

The government's failure to fix definitively the value of the paper mark in relation to the present limited issue of gold loan notes is the chief source of popular disapproval.

The government now makes its final appraisal of the paper mark, making it possible to trade the new currencies for the worthless paper.

Say Better Element of Britishers Favor Obeying U. S. Statute

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Washington, Nov. 8.—President Coolidge was told today by the Rev. T. G. E. Kay and Thomas Nightingale, of the Church Peace Union of Great Britain that the opinion of the better element in the British Isles is bitterly opposed to any participation by British subjects in running activities of the American coast.

"Run running," the two ministers said they told the President, "is a case of men in the United States who want to do the law cooperating with men of Great Britain who have no sympathy with law. Between them they thwart the purposes of the law."

ROCHELLE ELEVEN HAS EDGE ON DIXON LEGION'S WARRIORS

Bitter Rivals to Meet Here Sunday; Dixon Hopes for Victory.

Indications are that football fans will get a real thrill and will see one of the best games of the season when the Dixon Legion eleven Sunday afternoon. In past years the Dixon-Rochelle games have always been hard fought, exciting gridiron battles, and so far have the two teams been matched that in only one game out of six which have been played, have any touchdowns ever been made.

In 1920 the first game was won by Rochelle, 14 to 8. The second, Rochelle in a 6 to 0 tie; while the third game was won by Rochelle, 3 to 0. In 1921 Rochelle took the first game by a 3 to 0 score and the following two games were 0 to 0 ties.

Last year Rochelle was unable to put a team into the field, but this year a reorganization took place and thus far they have had a most successful season and have not been defeated.

Last year Rochelle was unable to put a team into the field, but this year a reorganization took place and thus far they have had a most successful season and have not been defeated.

The Dixon Legion team will probably play the game without the services of the two star tackles, Riley and Reardon, on account of injuries. However Whitcombe, Hutchinson, E. Hess and Altenderfer are expected to fill the positions very capably. Other players expected to play are: Forward, while lighter than the Rochelle forward wall, is strong and experienced. All members of the Dixon back field which looked so good against Sterling Sunday, are expected to play.

Who nearly swallowed a gold tooth during one of his sensational line plunges through the Sterling team, says that without it he may not look quite so flashy as usual but thinks he will be able to plow a few deep furrows just the same. Barry will be back in the game and may be expected to get away for some of his usual long runs.

Believe Ducks Met Death By Diving on Cement Pavements

Are the new hard roads of white concrete in Illinois a menace to bird life? This is the question that is being asked following the discovery of sixty wild ducks lying dead upon the newly completed highway through Macon, Platt and Champaign counties.

The birds were noticed early in the morning following a hard rain. The only plausible theory to account for their destruction is that the ducks were deceived by the glistening appearance of the light-tinted thoroughfare, and, believing it was a creek, swooped down from aloft to rest or secure food, and, instead of water, struck the unyielding surface of the road, falling with sufficient force to kill them all.

The fact that every bird appeared to have been killed in the same manner leads to the assumption that they were deluded by the deceptive appearance of the road. Hunters fear this mistake may be often repeated when the birds are making the flight northward in the spring of southward in the fall, and that thousands may be killed annually in this manner.

Bastrop Judge Will Not Disqualify Self

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Bastrop, La., Nov. 8.—Judge F. M. Odum, presiding at the trial of the Morehouse Parish misdemeanor cases growing out of masked band activities last year which culminated in the alleged murder of Walt Daniel and the shooting of a deputy sheriff, today declared that he disqualifies himself on the grounds that he is biased and prejudiced against the defendants.

The judge, who has a lengthy statement after T. J. Burnett, former deputy sheriff, had been adjudged guilty of assault with a dangerous weapon in connection with the hold-up, August 17, 1922 of Harry Neelis, by two unmasked men.

The defense immediately gave notice that it would apply to the supreme court for writs of prohibition and certiorari.

May Broaden Scope of Senate Hearing

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Washington, Nov. 8.—The scope of the senate inquiry into the veterans bureau probably will be broadened as a result of statements made to the investigating committee yesterday by its counsel that every employee of the bureau have sought to hinder the obtaining of records and papers for the prosecution of the inquiry.

R. O. Rodgson, in charge of the staff division, who was assigned by Director F. C. Hines to assist committee counsel, was named as one employee and the committee asked that it be furnished a list of others. The committee is in recess until Monday.

Chairman Reed has expressed a desire to have the committee's report ready for congress next month. To do this the hearing will have to be closed within a week or so.

Recommendations for several important changes in the law governing the treatment of the former service men are expected to be one outcome of the investigation.

NO DEVELOPMENT IN REPARATIONS QUESTION TODAY

Conversation Continued Between Hughes and Jussier.

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Washington, Nov. 8.—Beyond the fact that direct conversation between the American and French governments as to what progress is being made in the effort to clear the way for an agreement on the reparation question is continuing today, no development is being made in the effort to clear the way for an agreement on the reparation question is continuing today.

An explanation of the French position has been laid before officials. After receiving this in a conference with Ambassador Jussier and Secretary Hughes, the French position was taken up by the American ambassador, who represented the United States, as an unofficial observer.

No secret is made of the fact that the Dutch government would rather have the reparation question taken up by the allies. The Dutch are understood to have made known to the allies that their responsibility was unsought, that the former government was in their country as a refugee entitled to hospitality and that the question of his return to Germany was one for the German government to decide. The Dutch are understood to have made known to the allies that their responsibility was unsought, that the former government was in their country as a refugee entitled to hospitality and that the question of his return to Germany was one for the German government to decide.

The most important point now under discussion involves a definition and clearing up of the phrase "present capacity" of Germany to pay reparations as applied to the authority of the new expert commission of inquiry.

Kiwanis Club Will Honor Armistice Day

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Ogdenville, Kan., Nov. 8.—Holding townsmen at bay from 2 until 4 o'clock this morning, ten bandits blew up the safe of the Ogdenville Bank and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash, Liberty Bonds and other valuables. Before the robbery all communications with the town were cut. The bandits posted guards at the principal corners of the town while several entered the bank. The first blast aroused a number of residents, some of whom were stopped by shots from the guard. Town Marshal Kenitz turned near one of the guards in the darkness before he was detected. Two bandits opened fire and Kenitz sought shelter behind a tree, returning the fire until his ammunition was exhausted. The town was riddled with buckshot. Whenever a resident or a light appeared shots were fired.

The bank estimated the loss at $2000 in cash and an undetermined amount in Liberty bonds and securities.

W. M. S. of Christian Church Entertained

The W. M. S. of the Christian church was pleasantly entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Lindsey, 311 Chamberlain street.

The day was ideal and there was a large attendance of members and a number of visitors. One new member was received into the society. The meeting opened with all singing a hymn, after which Rev. Cleaver offered prayer. Mrs. Howell then read the Scripture.

The topic for the day was India and Mrs. Ward Hall read a paper entitled "The Joy of An Expanding Work." Following the reading of this paper a delightful musical program was given.

The first selection was a clarinet solo by William Rhodes, "Magnolia Serenade," by Catlin. Mrs. W. W. Moore playing the accompaniment. Miss Margaret Cleaver then sang the solo, "If Winter Comes," by Tenent, with Mrs. C. C. Kost at the piano.

The last numbers were given by Miss Ethel Detweiler, pianist, who played the following selections: "Woodland Echoes," by Wayman; and "Basket of Roses," by Albers.

At the conclusion of the program a short business session was held at which time it was decided that the ladies would meet at the church Wednesday, Nov. 14; to sew for the little orphan girl, whom the society is caring for.

After the benediction had been pronounced a social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served, consisting of individual pumpkin pies and coffee.

SOCIAL AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH—

NAVARRE PEARLS

slotted spoon or a strong Dover beater. Beat white of egg until stiff and dry. Add baking powder to beaten white. Fold into first mixture. Put one tablespoon of the batter in each section of the iron and cover. The iron should be hot enough to turn almost as soon as covered. If an electric iron is used add another tablespoon of melted butter to the rule.

Fill the socket of an ordinary waffle iron with salt and there will be no burning fat while baking the waffles.

Sweet Milk Waffles.
Two eggs, 2 cups flour, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add milk of eggs beaten until thick and lemon colored. Mix thoroughly and beat in melted butter. Add milk and beat well. Fold in whites of eggs beaten stiff and dry. Bake as in preceding recipe.

The secret of tender, crisp waffles lies in the baking rather than in the number of eggs used. The iron should be well heated on both sides and well greased before filling. The heat should be even and evenly distributed. A round iron fits over the flame of a gas range better than a square one.

Some old waffle recipes use as many as seven or eight eggs. This is quite out of the question these days and also unnecessary. Buttermilk was also considered imperative, but sweet milk waffles can be made just as good.

The recipes given are calculated to serve four persons.

To Send Eggs to Oak Forest Hospital

At the regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Tuesday, Nov. 6th, in Legion hall, much business of importance was transacted.

The rummage sale committee reported that the sale was in progress and that in spite of the short time for preparation and few donations, a most sum would be realized.

Mrs. Marie Hester in behalf of the G. A. R. Circle presented to the Auxiliary a check for five dollars to be added to the "greenhouse" fund. The Dixon Unit appreciates this gift and the members are glad to forward gifts like this.

An invitation to an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Carson in Nachusa, Nov. 13th, was accepted. After some discussion, it was voted to return to the G. A. R. hall to hold meetings of the Unit, many members being unable to climb the stairs to Legion Hall, and also because the hall is very hard to heat during the winter. The unit will meet hereafter on the first Wednesday afternoon and the third Wednesday evening of each month.

A letter from the chairman of the Hospitalization committee, was read, expressing appreciation for the $60.00 received from the Dixon Unit and the Kingdom-Community Aid Society, for the Greenhouse fund. She requested that rags be sewed and rolled into balls for the ex-service men who are making rugs and also that the local unit send a case of eggs each month to the Oak Forest Hospital for the tubercular boys. Where they are receiving 5 or 6 eggs a week, they should have that number each day.

The Dixon unit will send eggs as requested, the third week in each month. Dixon and vicinity should be able to assist those boys to the extent of one case of eggs a month. Show loyalty by the voluntary gift of eggs to the Dixon unit egg case. Any one wishing information may call Mrs. Strub or any member of the unit.

After the business meeting a delightful program was rendered, and was followed by a social hour during which time, delicious refreshments were served, with Mrs. Louise Withers, as chairman.

Miss Marjory Greer with Mrs. George at the piano sang a beautiful solo and gracefully responded to an encore.

Little Cathleen Nagle gave a charming reading and in her dainty manner also responded to an encore.

Miss Mary Louise Withers with Miss Katherine Doctor at the piano sang a beautiful solo.

Miss Esther Barton closed the program with a short but most interesting talk on the "Memories of the Battle Field."

The talk most fitting as a memorial to Armistice day was full of description which brought most vividly to her hearers the scenes in France—the battle field and the American cemetery where lay so many of America's best young manhood.

As these present listened to the talk, they felt they must be more loyal to the living and suffering and one way for all is to fill the unit egg case.

The auxiliary wish to thank those who so kindly assisted with the program and announced the next meeting for Wednesday evening, Nov. 21st, in G. A. R. hall.

Betty Booth Concert Friday Eve

Miss Betty Booth, who heads the Betty Booth Concert Company, which will appear at the Dixon Elks club Friday evening, Nov. 9th, is an artist of rare distinction and great personal charm.

Not only has she a mezzo-soprano voice of notable richness and beauty, but she is a talented pianist as well. Her education was received in European music centers and for two years she appeared with the Imperial Vienna Opera Company.

Miss Booth possesses a sense of dramatic values to a remarkable degree. Her presentations in costume of Spanish, Hindu, Chinese and Gypsy songs are as clean-cut, vivid, and highly-colored as a varied collection of beautiful gems. Each is distinct, illumined by her flashing imagination and sustained by her well-poised artistry.

The costumes themselves are worthy of note. Miss Booth secured them during her travels in foreign countries and devoted much thought and attention to the perfection of each detail.

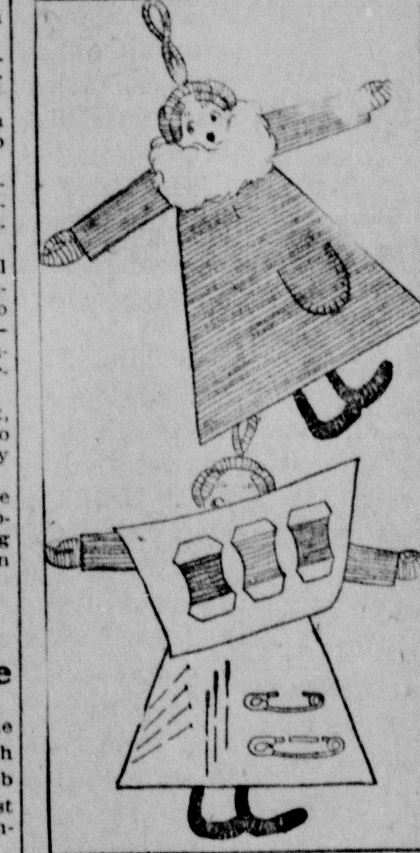

Betty Booth is a singer with a personality. She steals into one's heart with the wristfulness of her "Chinese Lullaby" or kindles the imagination with the fire and spraddle of her Hungarian and Gypsy songs.

With Miss Booth are Hugo Brandt, notable Polish pianist, and Paul Clark, well-known violinist.

Another Jubilee Rally Social

A jolly time with important business characterized the social which was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Earl Irey, 116 E. Eighth street, the fourth of the series of Jubilee Rally Socials of the Sunshine Class, St. Paul's church this week.

The officers elected were: Chairman, Miss Ethel Kay; secretary, Mrs. Anna Ditzler; treasurer, Mrs. Hannah Chronister. Time for the regular meetings of the group was arranged for the fourth Friday afternoon in each month, and already "The South Group" has accepted invitations to a taffy pull and a radio concert in connection with its next two business

This sewing doll is useful for any sewing basket. Take a piece of flexible wire and allow about 1½ inches for a head, and arms in proportion. Cover the head with cotton and then wind it with soft wool yarn in a flesh shade. Make the curls of yellow and the ruff of white. Then wind the wire for the hands and feet in the flesh-colored yarn.

Make a dress of linen, but do not sew it together at the sides. Finish all the edges with a buttonhole stitch in black wool and add a pocket just large enough to hold a thimble. Under the dress make a flannel skirt to which the feet are attached. This holds the scissors, safety pins and needles.

Make the doll's features of black thread and finish with a wool hanger to hold it to the basket.

Social Circle

The members of the Prairieville Social Circle held an all-day social meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. John Praetz of North Jefferson avenue, twenty members and one guest, Mrs. J. P. Rhodes, being present.

The Praetz home was gay with cut flowers and potted plants and a delightful day was spent by the ladies. At noon a bountiful picnic dinner was served from the prettily decorated table.

A brief business meeting was held and it was decided yesterday to sew or work for the disabled soldiers at the next meeting of the Circle.

The next meeting of the Circle will be with Mrs. Sam Rhodes at her home in Palmyra.

The music pupils of Mrs. A. L. Lydig will give a recital at the Prairieville church on Friday evening, Nov. 23rd, the members of the Circle to serve refreshments afterward.

Washing Dishes.
When preparing to wash dishes remember that all eggs, milk and flour dishes should soak in cold water, while sugar and fat dishes should be soaked in hot water. For very greasy dishes use hot water and soda.

Heart of Beef.
Heart of beef makes a cheap and nutritious dish. It may be baked, stewed or braised.

Soak Beans.
Dried peas or beans should be soaked in cold water for at least eight hours before cooking. After the soaking they should be rinsed in fresh water and put on to cook in cold water.

To Clean Bronze.
To clean bronze rub with a cloth slightly moistened with sweet oil. Rub dry with a soft cloth and then polish with camellia skin.

Care of Mattress.
A mattress should be thoroughly brushed and beaten with a flat rattan beater at least once a month. By turning it every few days the wear will be more evenly distributed.

Miss Mary Louise Withers with Miss Katherine Doctor at the piano sang a beautiful solo.

Miss Esther Barton closed the program with a short but most interesting talk on the "Memories of the Battle Field."

The talk most fitting as a memorial to Armistice day was full of description which brought most vividly to her hearers the scenes in France—the battle field and the American cemetery where lay so many of America's best young manhood.

As these present listened to the talk, they felt they must be more loyal to the living and suffering and one way for all is to fill the unit egg case.

Betty Booth Concert Friday Eve

Miss Betty Booth, who heads the Betty Booth Concert Company, which will appear at the Dixon Elks club Friday evening, Nov. 8th, is an artist of rare distinction and great personal charm.

Not only has she a mezzo-soprano voice of notable richness and beauty, but she is a talented pianist as well. Her education was received in European music centers and for two years she appeared with the Imperial Vienna Opera Company.

Miss Booth possesses a sense of dramatic values to a remarkable degree. Her presentations in costume of Spanish, Hindu, Chinese and Gypsy songs are as clean-cut, vivid and highly-colored as a varied collection of beautiful gems. Each is distinct, illumined by her flashing imagination and sustained by her well-poised artistry. The costumes themselves are worthy of note. Miss Booth secured them during her travels in foreign countries and devoted much thought and attention to the perfection of each detail.

Betty Booth is a singer with a personality. She steals into one's heart with the sweetness of her "Chinese Lullaby" or kindles the imagination with the fire and sparkle of her Hungarian and Gypsy songs.

With Miss Booth are Hugo Brandt, notable Polish pianist, and Paul Clark, well-known violinist.

Another Jubilee Rally Social

A jolly time with important business characterized the social which was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Earl Irey, 116 E. Eighth street, the fourth of the series of Jubilee Rally Socials of the Sunshine Class, St. Paul's church, this week.

The officers elected were: Chairman, Miss Ethel Kay; secretary, Mrs. Anna Ditzler; treasurer, Mrs. Hannah Chronister. Time for the regular meetings of the group was arranged for the fourth Friday afternoon in each month, and already "The South Group" has accepted invitations to a taffy pull and a radio concert in connection with its next two business meetings.

SWEARING OFF.

Man, did you ever try to stop smoking?
Probably your experience was a lot like Rodger Dolan's. Dolan had high blood pressure.
It was the nervous kind, not due to hardening of the arteries.

"You're smoking too much," the doctor explained. "Nicotine is over-stimulating the adrenal glands. Makes them manufacture and cast into the blood stream too much adrenaline. This super-powerful drug over-stimulates the heart and constricts the 'pipes' through which the blood flows. With the 'pipes' smaller, your heart has to exert more force (blood pressure) to pump the blood through your system. You'll have to cut your smoking."

Dolan swore off. Nearly drove him wild.
Seemed that everybody suddenly began offering him fine cigars. He could smell tobacco smoke a block away. Chewed gum, package after package. Couldn't sleep night.
Fought the battle six days. Then surrendered.

Later the doctor, warm friend of Dolan, tried a psychological experiment. He said:
"Rodger, your lungs are in dangerous shape.
I don't want to alarm you, but you'll have to be extremely careful. Smoking is the worst thing you can do. It irritates the lungs. Quit altogether? I don't care. That's up to you."

Dolan experienced a sudden chill. He had visions of himself dying from tuberculosis.
He suddenly discovered that life was more attractive to him than tobacco. Quit? Instantly. Easily.

Now he learns, from the doctor, that he was hoaxed. Nothing wrong with his lungs except bronchitis.

"It taught me," says Dolan, "that I was unable to quit smoking that first time because I didn't really WANT to quit. I hypnotized myself into believing I COULD quit—and HAD to. It's all a matter of mental attitude —imagination."

SPEED IN THE AIR.

Rear Admiral Moffett has taken wise action in holding that Lieuts. Brow and Williams have attained the maximum airplane speed that is possible without too great risk of human life, and in ordering the discontinuance of speed contests by members of the naval air service. Approximately 275 miles an hour (274.6) is as rapidly as any man can travel either in the air or on terra firma without great danger to his life. That it can be done in the proper plane has been demonstrated. Practical use of that speed does not appear to be for time of peace, however useful it may be in war, when the risking of human life is the every-hour experience of those engaged in it.

IGNORANCE OF THE TARIFF.

Miss Ethel M. Smith has been writing a series of articles for the New York Evening Post on the subject of "Women in Politics"
"from the viewpoint of the independent voter." In the article which appeared in the October 22nd issue of that paper, she advises women to join the Democratic party because it advocates the League of Nations and opposes the Protective Tariff.

That is quite in keeping with the record of those who call themselves "independent voters," the word "independent" being used to appeal to the unwary, but simply meaning that they are strongly attached to the minority party and "independent" of the party in power. The plea of independence is simply thrown out as a lure to win others. A really "independent" voter is one without a mind of his own, and Miss Smith certainly does not come under that category. She has very pronounced convictions, as the following extract from the article above referred to will show:
What, then, are the real reasons for being a Democrat rather than a Republican?

To this the Democratic women answer right off on two points: The League of Nations and the Tariff. The Democratic Party has proposed the one big constructive plan for international peace, which, however imperfect, is the best proposed thus far, while as to the Tariff, they put it to you neatly from the housekeeper's standpoint. The Tariff—the Republican Tariff—on wool clothing for mother, father and the children is nothing but a tax collected from the people who wear the clothes for the profit of others. The cost of the Tariff is paid by the ultimate consumers; the "Protection" goes to big business.

PROOF OF THE BARBERRY PUDDING.

Indiana Farmer's Guide: That barberry eradication is proving an effective control of heavy black stem rust epidemics has been demonstrated in a number of cases this summer. During the winter the Guide carried a story in Dr. C. T. Gregory's series which told of the rust spread in Rush county from a 100-year-old bush on the Darius Pattern farm and gave an account of the damage to the crops in 1922 and preceding years. The bush was destroyed last fall. In 1923 the area was free from rust and Mr. Patterson said that this was the first time his wheat had escaped since 1822.

Ears, they say are in again.
And girls may go about again,
And modestly begin again.
To let their ears come out again.

For quite a while it's been the style,
A fashion most particular,
Not to disclose to vision those Appendages auricular.
By which a perfect lady hears—
Not to disclose, in brief, her ears.

She might revel from knee to heel
In segs in silken hosiery,
Or wear a gay decollete
Which was a bit "exposure-y."
But though her ears were pink and small,
She couldn't let them show at all.

For they amid her hair were hid,
And in the best society
To show a mere tip of an ear
Approached gross impropriety.

And hard-boiled flappers faintly quite
If any ears appeared in sight.
But now at last that day has passed
When ears appeared as crudity.

Now fashions urge that ears emerge
In bold triumphant nudity.
At first, of course, we'll blush a bit,
But soon we shall be used to it.

Ears are coming in again
And women go about again,
And modestly begin again,
To let their ears come out again.

Tax Problems Will Be Subject Before M. & M. Tax League

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Tax problems, their importance and solution, will be considered by the "tax relief" convention of the Manufacturers and Merchants Federal Tax League meeting here November 9 and 10.

Announcement of the program, together with an outline of the league's proposed tax relief program, was made today. Four bills are to be introduced into the next session of congress embodying the league's plans.

The most important measure provides for a federal tax of one per cent on the privilege of holding lands and the announcement said.

With this measure and three others,
providing for repeal of sales taxes, taxation of "unearned" income and increase of inheritance taxes, the league claims that "producing business would be relieved of about $1,- 250,000 annually, and the people of from three to five times this amount of inflated living costs."

GRIDIRON FACTS

By Billy Evans.

THE QUESTION

What do football officials consider as hurdling on the part of a player? Is the rule relative to hurdling strictly enforced? I have witnessed a great many games in which the player carrying the ball has appeared to hurdle an opponent, yet has escaped penalty. If a player is on the ground, apparently out of the play, yet in the path of the player carrying the ball, does stepping over such a player make the man carrying the ball guilty of hurdling?

THE ANSWER

While there are very definite restrictions as to hurdling in the playing code, still such a happening narrows itself into a question of judgment on the part of the officials. The officials call the plays just as they see them and often what a spectator may regard as hurdling does not appear in that light to the presiding officials. Hurdling in the open can happen only when a player jumps over an opponent who is still on his feet. A player who is on one knee can be hurdled without penalty. Very often a player hurdles an opponent who is on his knees. Usually the spectator who is following the man with the ball sees only the hurdle and overlooks the fact that the opposing player was on his knee. The mere stepping over a prostrate player is not regarded as hurdling. Hurdling in the line is jumping over or attempting to jump over a player on the line of scrimmage, with both feet or knees foremost, within a distance of five yards on either side of where the ball was put into play. The penalty for hurdling shall be the loss of 15 yards.

THE QUESTION

The football coach is not satisfied with the way the player calling the signals is selecting his plays. At a certain critical stage of the game, desiring certain plays to be tried he sends in another player to do the calling of signals. The new player sent into the game does not substitute for the player who has been calling signals, as the coach desires this player to continue in the game, even though the right to call the signals is to be vested in another player. Is it possible for the player sent into the game by the coach to immediately take up the work of calling the signals after reporting to the proper official? It so happens that he is sent into the game on the fourth down and the question as to what course to pursue is debatable.

THE ANSWER

A player may be substituted for another at any time. He must immediately report to the referee or umpire. When a player is substituted he must not communicate in any way with any of the players on the field until after the ball has been put into play. When a player is sent into the game to give signals and the man who has been giving them is not moved, the substituted player cannot give the signals until one play has been completed after he has reported to the official. The signals for this play must be given by the player who was the original selection for that duty and who still continues in the game. The idea of this is to prevent a coach from sending a new player in to give the signals for a certain play at a critical stage of the game. One play must elapse before such a player can take up his duties as the giver of signals.

AS TO PENALTIES

Failure of a substitute to report to the proper official carries with it the penalty of a loss of five yards.

A player withdrawn from the game during the second half may not return to the game. If a player illegally returns and it is discovered, the player shall be suspended from the game and his team loses half the distance to the goal from the spot of the down where the illegal substitution was made.

If a player illegally substituted takes part in a number of plays before the error is discovered, the penalty shall be enforced from the spot where it was discovered.

Apple Pomace Said to Equal Ensilage

Washington — (By the Associated Press)—Apple pomace, the residue of ground apples after the cider has been pressed out, can be profitably used as food for wintering cattle, the Department of Agriculture announces. Thousands of tons of this pomace is wasted each year. When moist, pomace can be used fresh or ensiled. It yields a cattle food comparable with corn silage. Its most profitable utilization depends upon its preservation by dehydration and producing it as a commercial food. Feeding trials with dairy cows proved dried-apple pomace to be equal pound for pound of dry matter to good corn silage. The material was fed wet and replaced the corn silage in a ration including grain and hay.

WOMAN WINS JUDGESHIP IN COOK CO. VOTE

Republican Woman is Winner Over Democratic Lawyer.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Miss Mary M. Bartine was elected yesterday as a judge of the Circuit Court of Cook county—the first time in Illinois a woman has been so chosen.

Unofficial returns today gave her a plurality of 14,048 over D. J. Nor-moyle, her democratic opponent. Nor-moyle carried Chicago by about 6000 votes, but lost in the suburban districts of Cook county. Miss Bartine of the republican county ticket.

Daniel Ryan, Jr., democrat, was elected county commissioner and Oscar Wolff, republican incumbent, was given 11,000 majority over his demo-cratic opponent for coroner. To fill vacancies Jesse Holdom, republican, was elected to the superior court, and J. K. Prindaville, democrat, to the circuit court.

Thomas A. Doyle, democrat, was virtually unopposed as candidate for congress from the 48th district, his re-publican opponent having withdrawn, and less than 1000 votes were cast for E. W. Eichelbaum, socialist.

The republicans elected eleven and the democrats nine judges of the superior court, six judges being re-elected from each party.

A proposal for a zoological garden was rejected by some 92,000 votes. Approval was given to a proposal to increase the school building tax from 75 cents to $1 by a vote of about two and one-half to one.

A $250,000 bond issue for the La Salle street bridge carried by a 57,000 majority; annexation of a section of territory near Norwood Park was approved by nearly 100,000 majority and a bond issue for $2,000,000 for the West Park section was favored.

AMUSEMENTS

STUDEBAKER—CHICAGO

There is a swift, snappy music girlie revue at the Studenbaker Theatre in Chicago now that not only catches the regular visitors of the theatre but en-livens the attention of the intermittent visitor of the playhouse because of the kaleidoscopic colorings, the charm of the music, the cleverness of the comedians and the mellifluous song-numbers with which the play is en-viored.

The piece "I'll Say She Is!" is a music-girlie revue played in two acts and twenty-five scenes, each distinct in theme and costume, and every one of them possessing some beautiful song number interpreted by vocalists who know how to sing, assisted by drollers who know how to amuse you, and, in their ensembles, any-where from eight to thirty girls help-ing form the picturizations.

Heading the fun-makers are those four inimitable clownists and pan-to-mimists, as well as expert musicians—the Four Marx Brothers—who, through the present vehicle, have ad-ded much fame to their already well-known names. Besides the Marx boys there is Lotta Miles, one of the most photographed women in the world whose face has been seen in advertise-ments of tires and other household necessities. Miss Miles is a statuesque beauty, of perfect feminine type, which she displays to great advantage in several of her revue numbers.

Florence Hedges, a young miss with a coloratura soprano voice, is also a clever member of the "I'll Say She Is!" organization, her fresh young voice voice enthralling all lovers of real song. Among the dancers of the stake none stands higher than Cecile D'Andrea and Harry Walters. These two ballet dancers have many ex-quisite dance offerings that surpass those seen in any other organization.

Miss D'Andrea was for several seasons the premier dancer of the Met-ropolitan Opera House, New York.

Another dancer—a little personality girl—Marcelle Harle—offers you the old-fashioned buck-and-wing, clog and pedestal dances with such en-thusiasm that you give her six and eight encores nightly. Then, too, there are the Yerkies Happy Six Aug-mented Jazz Orchestra, and 30 girls, each more dangerously beautiful than the other, in costumes that fill the eye and some barely the hand. Ladies and children are great attendants at the matinees.

HARRIS THEATRE—CHICAGO

Could Victor Hugo but return to earth for a single night there is little doubt that he would gasp in amaze-ment at the magnificence of the Uni-versal production "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" now playing at the Har-ris Theatre in Chicago. According to the critics of that play it is "the su-preme production of the screen."

Universal is showing this $1,000,000 masterpiece only in the leading legiti-mate theatres with as special presenta-tion, a symphony orchestra, Special Cathedral Choir and full stage crew traveling with each unit.

The first company opened in New York a little more than two months ago there are now eight road compa-nies out with seven more to follow.

This method of presentation was de-cided upon owing to the enormous cost which made the rental of the pro-duction to the ordinary picture the-atre prohibitive. According to the of-ficials of the Universal it will not be shown in any except the largest show-places and at usual legitimate theatre prices for the next eighteen months.

Lon Chaney heads the brilliant cast which includes such famous players as Ernest Torrence, Patsy Ruth Mil-ler, Brandon Hurst, Cesar Graving, Norman Kerry, Tony Marshall, Ny-siel de Brulier, Gladys Brockwell and Harry von Meter. There were a total of 2091 players in the company. It was directed by Wallace Worley. One of the most stupendous engineering feats in motion picture architecture was accomplished in this feature when the Cathedral of Notre Dame was reconstructed in its entirety at Universal City.

This Little World

LOS ANGELES

BY DON RYAN

NEA Service Writer

Los Angeles—Martin's restaurant on Grand avenue is something of a theatrical rendezvous—something like Friedman's in Times Square. Same lobbied looks, blond and curled. The same sharp profiles of escorts. Actress and agent—actress and boy friend—the same crowd. The same converga-tion about show business, with the voice of Al Bryan, the song writer, dominating it.

Al is lunching today with Manny Lowenstein—Manny, who gets letters from George Cohan and Sam Harris signed, "Your Pal."

"It's tragedy," Al is saying, em-phatically, as he gazes at the picture of Manny's nose. "The sopranettes who have to get old. Blanche Ring—Anna Held. Before she died I've seen Anna Held look at one of these little chorus beauties with a look that said she'd rather be that unknown girl with that girl's youth than herself."

They sigh in concert. The dishes rattle in sympathy.

Los Angeles and all the Southland, as the local newspapers call southern California, is agog over the new drive. It was recently launched by the Chambers of Commerce from San Francisco to San Diego, for an educa-tional campaign in favor of California Christmas Sunshine Greeting Cards.

"Why," exclaims the passionate promoter, "Why should Californians send back to their eastern friends postcards showing scenes of ice and snow, entirely foreign to our beau-tiful land of sunshine and flowers? Let'em send Christmas cards showing roses, oranges, palm trees—every-thing that is typical of California."

"Moreover," resumes the promoter sentimentally, "these cards are made right here in sunny California."

Another movement just launched in Los Angeles and described as per-fectly lovely by the Associated Wom-en's clubs, is the movement for this city to produce its own grand opera. "Aida" was put on with more or less success recently in the Hollywood bowl. The cast was very complete, including an elephant and several movie actors, who carried across in the triumphal procession. The ster-ling performance of the elephant re-ceived general favorable comment.

No more politics in the police force.

Hair Like Mine

Has come to thousands in this easy way

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I found in France many years ago, the greatest hair help science has dis-covered. My mother used it, and at 57 she had hair like mine today.

I have used it. My hair is the mar-vel of millions. It grows finer every year. I have never had falling hair or dandruff, never a touch of gray. And now, at the age of 52, it is hair that most girls envy.

I have supplied this help to count-less friends and it brought them like results. So I am convinced that it means to millions such hair as cannot come without it. And I am going to help those millions get it.

What Experts Say

This formula, perfected by French experts, is based on lifetimes of hair study. They gave me these reasons for its amazing results.

It combats the hardened oil and dandruff which stifle the hair roots. They check the hair growth and de-stroy the hair. They choke the pig-ment which gives color to the hair.

Thus it cleans the scalp, then it stimulates and fertilizes the hair thrives under these conditions, just as flowers thrive in a well-kept garden.

It cannot harm the hair. It does not affect hair color, natural or arti-ficial. It deals only with the scalp—the soil of the hair. And all the re-sults come through reviving the roots.

Quick and Easy

I call this formula my Hair Youth. I apply it with an eye dropper direct-ly to the scalp. This takes but a min-ute a day, and it does not muss the hair.

One feels at once its cleansing, stim-ulating action. And my own hair shows what it does for hair health and hair beauty.

Every dealer sells my Hair Youth under guarantee. If the bottle fails to delight you, he will return your money. I want every woman, with-out a penny of risk, to learn what my Hair Youth does.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Hair Youth is supplied by all druggists and toilet counters. Price 50c and $1 with eye dropper. Also my Youth Cream, based on fruits. Also my Facial Youth—my famous fluid cleanser. Also my White Youth Clay—the last word in facial clay. My Beauty Book comes with each.

Try my Hair Youth at my risk. Do it now. The results are too true to miss. Then I think you will want the other helps which did so much for me. And all of them are now at your command. Edna Wallace Hop-per. Business address, Waukegan, Wis.

Note: Miss Hopper is now appear-ing twice daily in the Pantages Thea-tres of the Pacific Coast and western states.

Tramps Jumped from Car Just Before It Was Mashed to Bits

Galena, Ill.—A rather unusual form of a wreck occurred Saturday after-noon about two o'clock at Extra 2939 west bound 1 C. freight. As the train was pulling through the Galena yards it broke in two near the head end. This immediately set the air thus bringing the rest of the train to a sudden stop. A fragile box car not being able to stand the weight of the other cars, telescoped and crumpled in a thousand splinters, piling the wreckage on top of one of the cars, also throwing this car off the tracks. The wrecked car was an empty stock car. No one was injured but two tramps jumped out of the stock car a few minutes before it was wrecked. Had they been in the car they would have been killed.

The rear and front of the train were pulled away from the wrecked car and were made up and on their way in less than an hour.

CHALMERS First Proved and Now Presents HYDRAULIC 4 Wheel Brakes

Chalmers has adopted Lockheed type hydraulic four-wheel brakes—the type now specified on all Detroit police flyers—only after its own long research and thousands of miles of proof-driving on its own cars, and in comparison with other principles.

Chalmers took nothing for granted on the whole question of four-wheel brakes.

In spite of the fact that these hydraulic brakes had already proven themselves in owner-use over periods up to four years, Chalmers en-gineers set out to get their own proof.

But, through all the months spent in surveying the entire field both in Europe and America, there never was a chance to doubt the over-whelming superiority of the hydraulic principle.

In consequence, Chalmers now presents hy-draulic braking as the one and only system of four-wheel brakes that:—

Equalizes perfectly and automatically, on all four wheels at all times.

Applies the same braking pressure to all four wheels, and releases instantly when the pedal is released.

Does not interfere with easy steering in the slightest degree, even on sharp turns.

Requires no lubrication whatever, all the year 'round. Requires less adjustment than the ordinary rear-wheel brakes.

There will be no chance for you—no matter what car you drive or what your previous impressions may have been—to question these superiorities for a moment.

The demonstration you can give yourself in ten minutes' time is too emphatic, too con-clusive, too sensational, to leave a single shred of argument.

HEAD OF FAMOUS COFFEE FIRM IS BOOSTER OF DIXON

Impressed with City on Visit Here; Congratulates Citizens.

Thomas J. Webb, president of the famous Chicago coffee company bearing his name, stopped over for a few hours in Dixon and in an interview paid his respects to this city in complimentary terms.

"I feel very kindly toward Dixon as nowhere has my coffee been more readily and kindly accepted than here. I've spent the better part of my life in perfecting a coffee that I find the public likes, a coffee roasted from the finest green coffee grown, and the people of Dixon have shown that they like it."

Mr. Webb, who is a famous figure in the coffee trade over the world, drove about the city and was very much impressed with the city. He complimented Dixon on the great natural beauty of the place and the business-like hustling appearance of the downtown districts, the fine paved streets, etc., and said that he felt that Dixon people were very fortunate in living in such a desirable looking town.

"America ranks first as a coffee drinking people, the per capita consumption being fourteen pounds, and prohibition has advanced the sale," said Mr. Webb.

Asked why some of the coffee used in the out of the way places is so weak and tasteless, he said that it is a matter of education.

The children go to the larger communities to school, get a taste of good coffee and then go home to spread the news. That is the start of good coffee making in the district.

The best coffee comes to this country from Columbia, Venezuela, Brazil and certain parts of Mexico, and very little from the Dutch East Indies because the grade is poor and not aged properly.

Gives Coffee-Making Formula

Mr. Webb said that he preferred to have his coffee made in the good old fashioned coffee pot with the grounds put in a bag. When he was asked to give a good recipe for making coffee he laughed and said: "I have never been asked that question before, but just tell the people of Dixon to do it this way: Use boiling water, mix the coffee grounds with a little cold water. Use good coffee, an dessert spoon full to the cup, and an extra one for the pot. Do not boil too long, and keep the grounds off the bottom of the pot in a sack suspended from the top. Boil for no longer than ten minutes. If that will not produce a cup of coffee 'fit for the gods' nothing else will."

Coffee is cheaper now than ever before because it is better and a do not expect the price to change much," Mr. Webb said. Coffee, he thinks, is not harmful to children over eight or nine years of age and says that nothing has ever been found in coffee drinking which could be injurious to health.

"Advertising is the life of merchandise," said Mr. Webb. "If you have something meritorious do not be afraid to tell the world about it because the world wants to know."

Taxation Problem Vital

Mr. Webb, who has served as a member of the Board of Review in Chicago, a taxing body, was much concerned over non-taxable securities. "We should be taxed equally in proportion to our holdings. It is estimated that there are 30 billions of untaxable securities, and they are issued at the rate of a billion a year. It is the contention of one authority that untaxable securities equal in value all farm lands, machinery and live stock. Large estates are converting their holdings into cash, and from cash into non-taxable securities such as are issued by the states, counties and municipalities. The rich and very rich escape taxation by such investments. You do not escape taxation by having no possessions—you are taxed indirectly on your wearing apparel and the very things you eat. There is no justice in a condition that permits of unequal taxation. Perhaps that is the reason why the purchasing power of the dollar is approximately 60 cents," Mr. Webb observed.

Chairman Hull is Pleased with Vote

Washington, Nov. 7.—A statement was issued today by Chairman Cordell Hull of the democratic national committee regarding yesterday, in which he said:

"The overwhelming, smashing democratic victories in Kentucky, Maryland and down-state New York and the relatively minor and local democratic victories elsewhere, furnish additional proof that the voters are against the reactionary-controlled republican national administration in particular, and against the republican party in sections where the reactionaries are in control of that party."

"Altogether the results of Tuesday's elections are a cause both for gratification and jubilation by democrats and confirm the certainty of the democratic national victory in 1924."

All the men killed were working in the single entry where the explosion occurred.

"Mum" Show Opens at Dixon Flower Co.

The annual chrysanthemum show opened today at the Dixon Floral Company flower shop with the largest showing of "mums" ever displayed here. C. H. Faldstrom, manager of the flower shop, has assembled together no less than 20 varieties of the famous fall flower, all of which are grown in the greenhouses in North Dixon. The show opens today and it will continue for ten days, during which time hundreds of people will visit the bower of beauty. In the local greenhouses about 6,000 chrysanthemums will be grown this season. This is exceptional for a town of this size and many of the choice flowers will find their way to Chicago and eastern markets. Several of the new varieties of "mums" will be shown during the ten-day period. The "William Turner," largest chrysanthemum grown, a pure white flower and the "Chieftain," a pink beauty are features of the show. Several new varieties of roses will also be shown in connection with the "mum" show this year.

Banks with Branches May Be Barred By Federal Reserve Rule

Chicago, Nov. 7.—The congressional committee investigating the membership condition of the Federal Reserve Banking System, moved to Omaha today to continue the inquiry, after a two-day hearing in Chicago. A proposal to curb branch banking through prohibitory regulations, imposed by the Federal Reserve Board, was submitted yesterday by W. J. Rathje, representing the American Bankers' Association and the National Association Opposed to Branch Banking.

Mr. Rathje suggested that the Federal Reserve Board be vested with powers, which it does not now hold, to exclude from membership in the reserve system any bank operating branches.

GREETING CARDS

"THE FOOL"

BY CHANNING POLLOCK

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Clare Jewett, in love with the Reverend Daniel Gilchrist, marries Goodkind for his money. Daniel is dismissed from the fashionable Church of the Nativity in New York because of his radical sermons.

A delegation of strikers comes to interview the president and directors. An agreement which Gilchrist drew up for the miners is shown to Goodkind and Daniel gives the magistrates 24 hours in which to sign.

"Overcoat Hall," a refuge for the unemployed, is established by Gilchrist, and apartments with baths for the poor are maintained at a minimum rent. George Goodkind calls at the hall.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 "That's what I wanted to ask you. I'm in need of money and my father—"

"Your father understood you well enough to leave you only an income. I foolishly turned over some principal to you and you threw away $30,000. You could have had a big salary and you threw that away. You're an utter damned waster—if you're no worse."

"What do you mean—worse?" Daniel asked with a frown.

"You'll find out what I mean. You've had my son's wife down here, haven't you?"

"Once or twice."

"Or three times—or a dozen. He knows."

"I've asked her not to come again. And he's asked her—but she comes when she likes. She's in love with you—God knows what women see in your kind of a man. There was Pearl Hennig—"

"Please!" Gilchrist lifted a hand in protest.

"Oh, my son told me," continued Goodkind. "And I hear—in the neighborhood—that you've worse women than that running in here. Women of the streets!"

"Not many," said Daniel calmly. "They're welcome but they don't come."

"Well, that's your business. And if your neighbors get sick of having a resort of this kind in their midst, and drive you out, that's your business, too. But my son's wife—"

"Is her business," Daniel interrupted.

"And his," came back Goodkind. "Only Jerry's in no condition to settle the matter. He's broken down from worry and overwork and you're partly responsible. That puts it up to me. This is a final warning. If you don't get along with Pearl, I'll send her back to her mother. That's all. Good night." He picked up his hat.

"Oh, Mr. Goodkind," Daniel woke, as if from a reverie. "How about the money?"

"You've had what's coming to you."

"But that's nothing. I pay half that for these houses and I've gone in debt for them up."

"With debts and tennis courts?"

"People must have paths."

"These dirty immigrants," Goodkind stormed.

"The dirtier they are, the more they need them," Gilchrist smiled. "I want to show them how to live—and show other people that you don't have to have a pippen to make a profit."

"Are you making a profit?" asked Goodkind scornfully.

"Enormous," answered Gilchrist enthusiastically. "And, to go on, I've got to have $23,000."

"Oh, is that all?" scoffed the visitor. "You want $23,000 to go on making a fool of yourself. Well, you won't get it."

"Not even as an advance?" pleaded Daniel.

"Not a penny."

"Don't drive me to—" Gilchrist paused.

"To what?"

"To ask for an accounting," said Daniel, rather at a loss.

Goodkind stared at him in amazement.

"To ask for what?" he thundered.

"Now, listen to me. I've stood all I'm going to stand. You've run amuck. You've become dangerous to yourself—and me—and the neighborhood. You're going to stop it, and you're going to stop it now."

"That's your mistake," said Daniel, still tranquil.

"Is it? A year ago you gave me 24 hours to sign a paper, and I did it, and it cost me $2,000,000. Tonight I give you 30 minutes to shut up this place and quit seeing my daughter, and if you don't do it—"

"As I won't," said the unperturbed figure.

"I'll be here inside half an hour with a doctor."

"And then?" Gilchrist didn't understand.

"Then we'll file a petition to have you declared incompetent."

Goodkind banged his stick on the floor for emphasis and started for the door.

"I GUESS BELIEVIN' AIN'T NEVER GOIN' TO MAKE ME DANCE," SHE SAID.

"You don't mean that," said Daniel, rather helplessly. "You don't mean that because I'm trying to help—"

"Help—whom?" returned Goodkind, wheeling. "Strikers and street women and general riff-raff. And you don't even help them—because nobody can. And if you could, and did, how in the name of God would that help the community. If I find you're still ranting down here in half an hour, I'll say you're crazy and I'll prove it. He moved toward the door. "Think it over."

Goodkind reached for the knob as the door was swung open from the other side. Goodkind backed a step to avoid a tall, neatly dressed, brawny man.

"Excuse me," said the intruder, politely.

Goodkind glowered at the man, then his face half lighted with recognition.

"Haven't I seen you somewhere before?" he said reflectively.

The man tried to answer.

"Yes, I think so," he said. "My name's Umaniski."

"Umaniski?" Goodkind repeated. Then he remembered. "You're not the Pole who came to my house last year with a delegation?"

"Yes," said Umaniski, quietly.

"Well, I'll be—" Goodkind surveyed him in surprise.

"Mr. Gilchrist told me stay in New York," the Pole explained. "He's teach me English and find me good job. I'm work eight hours on the docks and six on myself now."

Goodkind said nothing, just reached for the door. Gilchrist, idly filling his pipe at the mantelpiece, broke in.

"Mr. Goodkind!" he said. "Umaniski has an invention. If you'll see it—"

"I'll see you in half an hour," came the answer and the door closed.

CHAPTER XVII
 Cinderella

Umaniski's eyes, minus the hatred they once held, but still steady and serious, had been turned intently on Goodkind as he talked.

"What's he doing down here?" asked Umaniski with certain anxiety.

"He says I'm crazy and he's going to shut me out of the place," Daniel smiled as he dropped into a chair with the relaxation of one tired. "Of course, he won't."

"Don't be too sure," said the Pole thoughtfully.

"Nonsense," returned Gilchrist. "I made him angry. And somebody told him a lot of lies."

"Somebody's told a good many people lies," said Umaniski. "Yesterday I heard a man say you run this place—to—let women."

"Who said that?" Daniel looked up seriously.

"A wop named Malduca."

"Oh, yes," Daniel relaxed again. "I took his daughter in here once, for a week, until he got sober."

"There's a good many like that," pursued the other.

"Enough to make trouble. Why not carry a pistol?"

"It's generally men with pistols who get shot," said Gilchrist with quiet rejection.

"One of them fellows get you—"

Gilchrist put him off with a gesture as Mary Margaret came into the room.

"I suppose you ain't had any supper," she said with a motherly air. Grubby had followed her in with a tray and the girl, leaning on her crutches, transferred the cargo to the table in front of Daniel.

Umaniski drew out a pocketbook and came alongside.

"I brought you some money," he said. "My boss he give me another raise. He gonna make me boss after a while. So I like to begin to pay back what you lend me."

Gilchrist waved him aside.

"Wait," he said, "sent for your family," he said, making no move to accept the proffered bills.

"I'm gonna send now," said Umaniski, smiling. "My boy I'm gonna send school—college, maybe. That pump I make goes fine. I show my boss like you say, because he know about coal mines, and he say if she work she save whole lots of lives and money and the work all right." He dropped the bills on the table and brought forth an English grammar from under his coat. "How about I go upstairs and study?"

"Sure," said Gilchrist. "Go right up to my room and I'll be along after the meeting." Umaniski left Margaret Mary bending over him eagerly.

"Your supper's ready," she said. Gilchrist had caught sight of her feet, strangely adorning golden slippers; he quivered, looking up at her.

"Uh-huh," she assented. "I took them out of the barrel of clothes that pretty lady sent." Gilchrist pulled a chair up beside his.

"Supper with Cinderella," he said under a sweeping invitational gesture.

"Gee, I love that story," the girl said plaintively. "When you tell it to me, you make me believe I'm her." She was a wistful figure, a Cinderella on crutches, a beggar of life but quite content to ride upon wishes.

"If you believe it—you are," said Gilchrist firmly.

"I sure believe it—I never goin' to make me dance," she said.

"You can't tell," he said, "if you believe hard enough."

"That's what you said before, and I've tried, but somehow it don't work."

Joliet, Ill., Nov. 7.—Beall Ryan, 14 years old, a student of the LaSalle Institute here, learned today that whittling holes in school desks and putting fingers in them doesn't pay. Shortly after coming to school this morning the youth, as he leaned over his books, inserted one of his fingers in a small hole in his wooden desk. When he began to retract it, he found that it was lodged there, and his fright caused him to work the harder in order to extricate it. Before the teacher would "catch" him. However, he could not free himself, and both he and the desk had to be taken from the school to a carpenter shop a mile from school where a circular saw freed him, and to give the flat silhouette so fashionable now.

EASILY PEEVED

National League umpires say that if Tony Kauffman didn't get peeved every time he thought the umpire missed a strike he would be a 25 cent better pitcher. The moment he starts to fuss with the umpire he loses much of his stuff. There are several other pitchers in both leagues with that falling.

LEE CO. FARM BUREAU NOTES

MARKETING OF EGGS

"The total egg crop last year of 1,650,000,000 dozens if strung on a chain like beads would circle the earth 32 times at the equator," stated J. D. Harper, assistant secretary of the Illinois Agricultural Association, over the Farm Bureau radio at Station KYW, Chicago, on Tuesday night, October 30. Several Lee County farmers report that they "tuned in" on this talk.

"The 1920 census places the national annual income from eggs produced and poultry raised at $1,047,000,000, a figure in excess of the combined value of all the barley, rye, timothy, sugar cane, and all the sheep of the country thrown in. And the United States imported in excess of exports last year more than 8½ million dollars worth of dried and frozen eggs, mainly from China," declared Mr. Harper.

Let us look at present methods of buying and handling eggs at country or production points. Eggs are collected by buyers or else are brought to grocery stores by the farm women for the most part and exchanged for groceries. In most places the cash price at the grocery is 2 cents less than the price in trade. This encourages trading at the store where eggs are delivered.

"But the grocer, like the cash country buyer, pays the same price per dozen to everybody. This flat rate per dozen for all classes and grades of eggs is the greatest inducement for the farm woman to deliver everything in the shape of an egg that she can find.

"A change in the handling of eggs in the country is coming. Farmers are well aware of the fact that per dollar invested, poultry has been the best paying enterprise on the farm during recent years. Many farmers have been giving more attention to poultry and eggs and above all, enough of them have been shipping their own graded eggs to know that the cooperative marketing idea is sound in this return as made to every egg producer on the basis of the sale price of those eggs on the terminal market, where they are sold according to inspection and grade standards."

TO ENTERTAIN CLUB WINNERS

The two winners in Boys' and Girls' Club work of Lee County will be entertained one evening by the Illinois Agricultural Association during their free trip to the International Stock Show in Chicago in December.

The winners of Lee County entitled to the free trip to the International will be chosen as soon as reports from the club members are all submitted and passed on. There will be both boy and a girl offered this free trip.

On the evening of December 5, the state association will have a banquet and entertainment for all of the winners of County Club projects. In the state after which there will be an entertainment. The entire I. A. A. Executive Committee and all of the department employees will assist in the entertainment. A total of about 200 Illinois boys and girls will be entertained.

ONLY ENEMY

"The only enemy the Farm Bureau need fear is lack of interest and indifference on the part of its own members."

bers." Randolph Co. Farm Bureau

Ever think of it? Did you ever hear of anyone buying a binder and then finding fault with the implement dealer because it did not go out and cut his wheat? No, he hitched up his faithful horses to the new binder and guides and directs the work of harvesting until it is done. Just so with your Farm Bureau. It will serve you just as far as you give it the benefit of your thought and cooperation. It is just the amount of personal interest which each farmer gives the Farm Bureau which determines its benefit to himself and to agriculture as a whole.

Does Volume Increase Profits

Here are some figures from the Indianapolis Producers Commission Association:

Receipts: June, July and August, 1922, were 1,682 cars of live stock.

Profits for same period were $7,449.81.

Receipts: June, July and August, 1923, were 3,217 cars.

Profits for same period were $20,280.84.

Increase: In receipts, 91 per cent; in profits, 170 per cent.

This upholds the Producers' contention that increased volume decreases handling costs.

With the 14,000,000 cars licensed in the United States and over 3,000,000 million cars and trucks being manufactured each year, do you realize what it means to the CITY where the BEMENT POSITIVE DRIVE DIFFERENTIAL IS MADE? Even if only FIVE per-cent of the cars are equipped with it.
